

Jackson, William Thomas. Kiss, Sweet Little Lillah for Me: The Civil War Letters of William Thomas Jackson, Company A, Eighth Alabama Infantry Regiment. Edited by Wayne Wood and Mary Virginia Jackson. Birmingham, Ala.: Ebsco Media, 2000.

Cooking food, 7-8
Furloughs, 8-9
Rations, food, 9
Cotton, 12
Religious services, 14
Small pox, vaccination, 14-15
Richmond described, 16
Food, short rations, 17
Food, 19
Cold weather, Mud March, Confederates, 22-23
Soldier pay, 26
Religious services at home and in the army, 27
Food, short rations, 28
Peace prospects, 29
Discipline, guard house, execution, cowardice, 29
Lincoln as dictator, 30
Food prices, farming in Virginia, 30
Uncertain length of war, 30
Confederate morale, 30
Farm questions, 32
Sermon, fasting, humiliation and prayer, 33
Impressment of food, 34
Yankee balloon, 34
Diarrhea, 36
Wounded Yankees, Chancellorsville, 36-37
Food, 37
Wheat crop, 39
Clothing, 39-40
Gettysburg, clothes, 42
War weariness, 43
God and battles, 44
Day of fasting, humiliation, and prayer, 45-46
Morale, desertion, 46
Revival, baptisms, 47
Marching and desertion, 49
Vulgar language, 50
Market crops, 52
Duty, country, enemy, liberty, 53.
Overland campaign, 56ff
Religious revivals, 56
Furloughs, 57
Grants, army, morale, confidence, 58

Religion, tracts, 58

Preaching camp, 59

Theater in camp eliminated, chaplains, church in camp, 59-60

Jubal Early and attack on Washington, 62

Bragg, Joe Johnston, and Army of Tennessee, 62-63

Petersburg, 63ff

Crater at Petersburg, 65