

Skinner, Arthur N. and James L. Skinner, eds. The Death of a Confederate: Selections from the Letters of the Archibald Smith Family of Roswell, Georgia, 1864-1956. Athens: University of Georgia Press, 1996.

Thinking of moving, becoming refugees, 4ff
Conscription, exemption, healthy, surgeons, 7, 10
Slaves, thieving, dangerous, coastal, 12
Wedding, 14-15
Making fans and socks for soldiers, 17, 21-22
Possible direction of Yankee march, Sherman, 19
Soldier expresses thanks for food, 20
Joseph Brown and discontent, 27-28
Advice to son on marriage, 32
Joseph Brown and Alexander Stephens, blood inheritance, 32
Food prices, 37
Palmetto hats, 39-40
Anxiety about Yankees in Georgia, 41
God and deliverance, sin, 41-42
Refugees moving, 50-51
Destruction of factory at Lawrenceville, 53
Yankees, Camden, food, other, 57
Corn, prices, 61-62
Soldier rations, food, 63
Guard duty, 64
Rumored attack on Milledgeville, 67-68
Black troops, 70
Families leaving Atlanta, 71
Selling yarn, income tax, 73
Yarn, Roswell, Yankees, 74
Johnston, Bragg, 81
Ink made from berries, 83
Johnston, Atlanta, Sherman, Grant, 84
Joseph Brown, Hood, Johnston, Jefferson Davis, 89
Yankees, black troops, Andersonville, 92
John Bell Hood, 94
Cotton yard, prices, 98
Refugee quarters, 103
Yankee behavior, 110
Fall of Atlanta, 110
Yankees, burning houses, General McPherson, 112
Roswell mills burned, expulsion of people, 113-17, 121
Hood and Sherman, 115
Lincoln, McClellan, Vollandigham, election of 1864, 117, 125
Hiring someone to cook, cooking for themselves, 119
Hood, Atlanta, Jonesborough, 120-21

Jefferson Davis, speech in Macon, Sherman, 123-25
Alexander Stephens, Davis, Georgia, 133
William King, Sherman, Unionists, 133-34
Savannah and Sherman, 152
Savannah, 152ff
Furlough, 165-66
Demoralization, living under Yankee rule and Negro equality, 167
Slaves work little, 170