

Wilson, Augusta Jane Evans. A Southern Woman of Letters: The Correspondence of Augusta Jane Evans Wilson. Edited by Rebecca Grant Sexton. Columbia: University of South Carolina Press, 2002.

Ephemeral nature of life, 11-12
Novelists styles, 21-22
All men and women must consider secession, 22
Rumor that she was going to marry a Republican, 25-26
Memorial of women on secession, Union as idol, rejects Unionist petition, 27-30
Alabama forts and others, 30-31
Under fire at Norfolk, wish she could have fired back, 33-34
Women and Confederacy, 36
Expected a short war after Manassas, Davis and cabinet too timid, 36
Soldiers, illnesses, medicine, 39
Henry Timrod, 40
Shiloh, 40
Beauregard, 41-45
Thomas R. R. Cobb's death, 48
J. L. M. Curry, defense of Mobile, 48-49
Fredericksburg, Thirty Years Wall, 49
Conscription, exemption, Yancey, 49-50
Disaffection, Confederate desertions, 49-50
Overseer exemption, and soldier opinion on slavery, 50
Beauregard and Jefferson Davis, Sterling Price, Joseph Johnston, 54-56
Novel, battle of Manassas, Marcaria 56, 59, 68, 89, 102-4
Kentucky campaign, Bragg, despotism, 62-65
Character of southern women and slavery, 65-67
Fall of Vicksburg, blames government, Joseph Johnston, Pemberton, 69
Beauregard, campaign plans, Joseph Johnston, Charleston, 72-76
Death of William Lowndes Yancey, 74
Defeat of J. L. M. Curry, reelection to Congress, 77-78
Universal suffrage and demagogism, 77-78
Beauregard, concentration strategy, 81-85
Need to repeal substitution and draft able-bodied clerks, conscription, 82-83
Confederate finance, money, 83
Bragg and dissension in western army, Beauregard, Johnston, Leonidas Polk, 83-84
Beauregard and Charleston, 89-91
Democracy and political principles, 91-92
Economics, property, patriotism, 92-93
Confederate financial legislation, 93
Admiral Buchanan, Mallory, naval defense, 93
Women traveling to mobile, 96-98
Women relief association for soldiers in Mobile, dinner, social life, 102-3