

Haas, Jacob. “This Day We Marched Again”: A Union Soldier’s Account of War in Arkansas and the Trans-Mississippi. Edited by Mark K. Christ. Little Rock: Butler Center for Arkansas Studies, 2014.

9th Wisconsin Infantry

Enlistment in German regiment, 19-20

Departure of regiment, 21

Marching, snow, 23

Carthage, Missouri, 25

Indians, Catholic Mission, 26-27

Attack on Stand Watie’s Cherokees, 28-29

Indian war dance, 30-31

Indian dragged through camp at night by horse, 32

Drowning, drought, sickness, 34

Water, 38

Newtonia, Missouri, 39-41

Indiana artillery officer enticed by a young woman and then murdered by guerrillas, 44

Prairie Grove, 47-50

Slaves and masters, 52

Crossing the White River, Arkansas, 59-60

Rolla, Missouri, 67

General inspection, 69

Foraging, food, 84

Reenlistment, 84-85

Spy execution, 85

Man killed by falling limb, accident, 87

Guerrillas, 87-88

Drill, 89

Guerrillas, execution, 90-91

Foraging, cattle, 95

Thirteen year old Confederate soldier, 97

Attacked by Confederates, Elkin’s Ferry, Steele, Camden expedition, 97-113

Confederate graves, runaway slaves, 103

Artillery fire, 111-12

Battle, Jenkins Ferry, 117-22