

Norman, William M. A Portion of My Life, Being a Short & Imperfect History Written While a Prisoner of War on Johnson's Island. Winston-Salem, N.C.: John P. Blair, 1959.

2nd North Carolina Infantry, Co. A, 28th North Carolina Infantry

War begins, 116

Wife opposes enlistment, 117-19

Leaving home, 119

His company, 120-22

Camp at Garysburg, North Carolina, 122

Measles, 123

Officer, 123-25

Furlough, 125-26

High Point, 126-27

Furlough, birth of daughter, return to camp, 127-29

28th North Carolina Infantry, Officer election, 130-31

Fever, home, Christmas, 132-34

Wilmington, 134

Reenlistment, 134-35

New Bern, 135-38

Kinston, reorganization of the company, 138

Conscription, 140

Visited company and plans to return to camp, 140-42

Reported back to duty, Lieutenant, 143-47

Valley of Virginia, 148ff

Front Royal, 150-51

Crossing the Potomac, 151-52

Fredericksburg campaign, 152-62

Missing comrades, 162-63

Tent, shoes, 163

Christmas, boxes, 163-64

Picket duty, furlough, and return, 164-67

Chancellorsville, 168-77

Shows father where son was killed, 179

Fraternization, trading, 179-80

Death of Stonewall Jackson, 180

Gettysburg campaign, 181-89

Retreat from Gettysburg, 189

Sick child, furlough, 192-93

General Hoke, 194

Kelly's Ford, taken prisoner, 196-200

Old Capitol Prison, 200

Johnson's Island, 201ff

Barracks and prison, 201-3

Despondent as prisoner, 204

Immorality among the prisoners, 205

Discussion of politics, 205

Prisoner exchange, 206
Food, rations, 206
Prisoner list, 208-17
Health of daughter, Christianity, 230-31
Reading the studying in prison, 232-33
Rations, food, purchase, 233
Despondent, thoughts of home, 235-36
Family, duty, prisoner, 237