

Pryor, Mrs. Roger A. Reminiscences of Peace and War. New York: Macmillan Company, 1924.

Chapter I

Washington in the Fifties — Literary Society during Fillmore's Administration — John P. Kennedy, G. P. R. James, Mrs. Gales, and Mrs. Seaton — Anna Cora Mowatt . . . 3

CHAPTER II President Pierce's Inauguration — The New Cabinet — Mr. Marcy prescribes Court Dress with Varying Results — Jefferson Davis — Sam Houston — General Scott — Washington Irving — Adelina Patti and Mrs. Glasgow — Advice of an " Old Resident " and its Unfortunate Result . . 15

CHAPTER III Mr. Buchanan and his Cabinet — Roger A. Pryor's Mission to Greece — The Court of Athens — The Maid of Athens — The Ball at the Hotel de Ville — Queen Victoria's Dress and Dancing — The Countess Guiccioli — Early Housekeeping in Washington 38

CHAPTER IV The President at Church — Levee at the White House — A Dinner Party at the White House — Miss Harriet Lane — Lord and Lady Napier — Ball in their Honor — Baron and Madame Stoeckle — Madame Bodisco — The First Japanese Embassy to the United States 47

CHAPTER V Great Names on the Rolls of the Supreme Court, Senate, and House of Representatives — Pen Picture of Stephen A. Douglas — Incident at a Ball — Mrs. Douglas — Vanity Fair, " Caps, Gowns, Petticoats, and Petty Exhibitions " — Decollete Bodices — A Society Dame's Opinion thereon 66

CHAPTER VI Beautiful Women in Washington during Mr. Buchanan's Ad-ministration — Influence of Southern Women in Society — Conversational Talent — Over the Demi-tasse after Dinner — Over the Low Tea-table — Hon. John Y. Mason and the Lady who changed her Mind — The Evening Party — Brilliant Talkers and Good Suppers 80

CHAPTER VII The Thirty-sixth Congress — Stormy Scenes in the House of Representatives — Abusive and Insulting Language — Rupture of Social Relations— Visit from General Cass at Midnight — The Midnight Conference of Southern Leaders — Nominations for the Presidency — The Heated Campaign and the " Unusual Course " of Stephen A. Douglas — Author of the Memorable Words of Mr. Seward, "Irrepressible Conflict " 93

CHAPTER VIII Memorable Days in the History of the Country — A Torchlight Procession in Virginia — An Uninvited Listener to a Midnight Speech — Wedding of Miss Parker and Mr. Bouligny — The President learns of the Secession of South Carolina — Admiral Porter visits his South Carolina Friends — The Last New Year's Day in Washington — Parting Words in Congress — The Setting Sun of a Happy Day 107

CHAPTER IX The Fall of Fort Sumter — Virginia sends ' Peace Ambassadors' to Washington — Conventions in Richmond — Ordinance of Secession — Rally of Virginians — Enthusiasm of the Women — Soldiers' Outfits . . . 120

CHAPTER X March of the Volunteers — Sail down James River — Firing the First Gun of the Regiment — A Peaceful Volley . 134

CHAPTER XI A Virginia Tobacco Plantation — "Health, Peace, and Competence " — Country Dinners — A Negro Funeral — General McClellan and the Boys' Regiment 146

CHAPTER XII Battle of Bull Run — Life at Smithfield — General Pemberton — First Sight of the Enemy — A Sudden Change of Base — Battle of Williamsburg — General McClellan — General Joseph E. Johnston — Battle of Seven Pines — Richmond realizes the Horrors of War 160

CHAPTER XIII The Seven Days' Battles around Richmond — Pryor's Brigade ordered to the Front — Finding a Wounded Soldier — Midnight Watch after the Fight — Work in the Hospital — Ministrations of Virginia Women — Death of a Christian Soldier — Colonel Brokenborough's Sufferings, Fortitude, and Death — Richmond saved 174

CHAPTER XIV Campaign in Maryland and Northern Virginia — Battles of Manassas, South Mountain, and Sharpsburg (Antietam) — Winter Quarters in Culpeper — Stories around the Campfire — Devotion to General Lee — Incidents related by his Aide, Colonel Taylor 193

CHAPTER XV The Foraging Party on the Blackwater — Incidents of Camp Life — A Hazardous Experiment in "Blockade Running" — Letter from "Agnes" — A Colored Man's Views of his own Place in Time of War — Fight on the Blackwater — Richmond Gossip from "Agnes" 210

CHAPTER XVI The Bread Riot at Richmond, described by "Agnes" — Correspondence between the President, General Lee, and General Pryor — A Great Victory at Chancellorsville — General Lee's Order upon entering Pennsylvania — Cornwallis's Orders in 1781 — Incident of Vicksburg Campaign — Dreadful Defeat at Gettysburg — Surrender of Vicksburg 237

CHAPTER XVII The Winter of 1863-1864 — Personal Experiences — Patrick Henry's Granddaughter — The Spring and Summer in Petersburg — Famine, and Some of the Women who endured it — John tells of the Averill Raid — General Orders No. 7 — Domestic Manufactures — General Lee's Dinner — His Service of "Plate" 251

CHAPTER XVIII Siege of Petersburg — Fight at Petersburg, June 9 — General Lee arrives at Petersburg — General Grant shells the City — Conference of Pierre Soule, General D. H. Hill, General Longstreet, and General Pryor — Battle at Port Walthall — A German Maiden and her Lover — Substitute for Medals of Honor — A Perilous Commission — Explosion of the Mine under Confederate Fortifications . . 270

CHAPTER XIX August in the Besieged City — The Dead Soldier — Return to Cottage Farm — General Lee makes his Headquarters near Cottage Farm — General Wilcox encamps in Yard and Garden — Picket Firing between Friendly Foes — New Uses for Champagne Glasses 292

CHAPTER XX Capture of General Pryor — John and the Negro Trader — Expedients for the Support of my Family — A New Use for Ball Dresses — Capture of the Rev. Dr. Pryor . . 306

CHAPTER XXI Christmas at Cottage Farm — Dark Days of Famine and Desertion in the Army — The Psalm of Life — A Dejeuner a la Fourchette — "Starvation Parties" — The Peace Commission — The Irish M.P. from Donegal — General Lee reveals the Desperate Condition of his Army — A Visit from General Lee 319

CHAPTER XXII General Pryor's Return from Captivity — Story of his Release from Prison and Interview with Mr. Lincoln — April 2 — Defeat at Cottage Farm — Surrender of Petersburg — Entrance of Federal Troops — Personal Experiences . 338

CHAPTER XXIII
Evacuation of Richmond described by "Agnes" — Mr. Lincoln's Entrance into Richmond as related by Admiral Porter 354

CHAPTER XXIV Arrival of Southern Prisoners of War — General Sheridan "knows how to make the terms for a house that suits him" — "We've caught Jeff Davis" — General Sheridan's Visit — Frank Expression of a Yankee Soldier — General Warren tells us of Lee's Surrender 361

CHAPTER XXV Incidents and Events — Loyalty of Domestic Servants — The

First Army Ration to Destitute Women — Mrs. Hartsuff— Return to Cottage Farm — A Scene of Desolation —The Lonely Vigil — Kindness of Negroes and Fidelity of Old Family Servants 372

CHAPTER XXVI Tourists — The Reverend Brother and the Young People — The Army of Norway Rats — The " Met Bullets " — General Grant — The Destruction of Fortifications and Change of Base — In the Garden at Cottage Farm — The Voice in the Night . . . » . . . 390

CHAPTER XXVII The First Decoration Day — The Old Church at Blandford — The First Memorial Association — Covering the Soldiers' Graves with Flowers — " Until the Day Dawn " . . 404

CHAPTER XXVIII Virginia in the Early Days of Peace — Behavior of the Freedmen — Clara's Home-coming and Death — The Welcome to the New Home — General Pryor removes to New York City 412