

Julian, George W. Speeches on Political Questions. New York: Hurd and Houghton, 1872.

The Cause of Our Political Troubles, January 14, 1862
Causes of the rebellion, 155ff
Southerners wish to rule in the interest of slavery, 156
Slavery vs. freedom, 162
Overthrow of slavery, necessary, 167
Slavery a source of strength for the Confederates, 168
Administration too tender toward slavery, 169
Opposes colonization, much need for labor of former slaves, 178
Confiscation and Liberation, House, May 23, 1862
Dislikes narrow constitutional arguments, 182-83
Constitution is a charter of liberty, 183
Chase and finance, 187
War in earnest, Rebels not just misguided brethren, 188
Supports strong confiscation measures, 188
Triumph of antislavery is sure, 189
History of reform, 191
The Rebellion—Mistakes of the Past—Duties of the Present—February 18, 1862
Republican victory in 1860 was triumph of freedom over slavery, 192-94
Federal offices, 194
Union coalition was shallow because it ignored the centrality of slavery, 195
Lincoln administration should have been more thoroughly Republican in policy, 198
Ball's Bluff, McClellan, Stone, Baker, Lincoln orders offensive, 199-200
Democrats cling to slavery, 201
Democratic policy should rule the country no longer, 204
War of freedom and free labor, 207
Praises Frémont, 207-8
Calls for restoration of Frémont to command, 209
Denounces Democratic despotism, 210
Homestead for Soldiers of the Lands of the Rebels, March 18, 1864
Taken from forfeited or confiscated Confederate lands, 212
Homestead Act, 213ff
Earnest war policy, 217
War will bring a vast amount of land under Federal control, 219
Need assistance for both poor whites and freedmen, 221
Evils of land monopoly, 222
Reviews provisions of his bill, 226-28
Radicalism and Conservatism—The Truth of History Vindicated—February 7, 1865
Radicalism vs. conservatism, 229
McClellan, Ball's Bluff, Stone, Patterson, 230
Fort Pillow, 232
Halleck, McClellan, Hunter, 234
Chicago platform, 238
Frémont, Butler, 239
Sale of Mineral Lands, February 9, 1865

Money, currency, 246
Need for more precious metals, 246
Taxation, 247
Need for a mineral lands policy, 249
Mineral lands should be sold, 250
Opposes a government monopoly, 258
Price, 259-60