Life and Reminiscences of General Wm. T. Sherman by Distinguished Men of His Time. Baltimore: R. H. Woodward Company, 1891.

Horatio King, Sherman as conversationalist, at army reunions, postwar, 253-71
George W. Childs, postwar, Sherman memoirs, Long Branch, speech at West Point, Sheridan, 272-86
General O. O. Howard, Chattanooga, Sherman and military genius, friendship for Grant relations with his generals, 289-94
Hiram Hitchcock, Sherman in New York after the war, 295-300
David D. Porter, first meeting with Sherman, 301-2
Horace Porter, Atlanta, planned march to the Sea, 303-7
Horace Porter, Grant, Lincoln, and Sherman at City Point, Sherman describes march to the sea, 307-12
Sherman and Johnston, 312-14
Horace Porter on Sherman after the war, 314-19
Sherman and southern editors, 320-22
Chauncy Depew, Sherman in New York, 323-
Sherman in Savannah, 329-30
Sherman and Jefferson Davis, 330-31
Lincoln and Sherman's army at the end of the war, 331-32
March through Georgia, 332-33
Benjamin Harrison on Sherman, 334-35
Henry W. Slocum, Sherman and the Atlanta campaign, 346-47
Burning of Columbia, 348
Sherman and religion, 349
Sherman and politics, 349
Sherman in Louisiana, Senator Morgan, 350-51
Rutherford B. Hayes, 356-58
Sherman postwar, birthday, 360-62
Appendix, articles written by Sherman, 375ff