

Stillé, Charles J. History of the United States Sanitary Commission Being the General Report of Its Work during the War of the Rebellion. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott, 1866.

CHAPTER I THE NATURE AND OBJECT OF ARMY RELIEF.

The Office and Teachings of History 17
Characteristics of the Late War — The popular element in the war 18
Organization of popular benevolence 19
Nature of the sympathy felt for the volunteers 20
Peculiar dangers to which new troops are exposed 21
Ignorance and inexperience of their officers 22
Characteristics of the first volunteers 23
General neglect of precautionary measures 25
Apprehension felt for the result 26
Experience of the Crimean War 27
What was taught by that experience 28
The influence of such teachings in favor of similar measures here » 30
The functions of the English Sanitary Commission 31
Condition of the Regiments on their arrival at Washington 38
American method of remedying great public evils 34
Preventive measures suggested 36
Dangers of extra-official intervention 37

CHAPTER II DEVELOPMENT OF THE THEORY OF A PREVENTIVE SERVICE.

The first relief movement made by the women of the country 89
Women's Central Relief Association of New York./ 40
First public meeting for army relief in New York 42
Dr. Bellows* interview with Dr. Satterlee, Medical Purveyor 48
Effect of statements made by Dr. Satterlee 44
Movement of certain Medical Associations in New York 46
Delegation sent to Washington 46
Condition of things there — Interview with General Scott — Re-inspection of troops 47
Interview with the Acting Surgeon-General ~ 48
Views of the Delegation in regard to discipline 49
Preventive scheme proposed ~ 50
Comparative value of preventive measures 51
Objections to a merely advisory system > ^ 52
Letter of the Delegation to the Secretary of War ^ 53
Letter of the Acting Surgeon-General to the Secretary of War, asking for the appointment of a Sanitary Commission 54
Names of the Commissioners suggested by the Acting Surgeon-General... 55
Opposition in the War Department 57
Dr. Finley appointed Suigeon-GeneraL His opposition 59
Contrast between the action of our government and that of Great Britain in the Crimea 61

CHAPTER III ORGANIZATION OF THE UNITED STATES SANITARY COMMISSION

- Names of the Commissioners 63
- First meeting of the Commission ., 64
- Plan of organization 65
- System of relief 67
- Sketch of the Commissioners. Bev. Dr. Bellows 68
- Professor Alexander Dallas Bache 70
- Dr. Van Buren 71
- Professor Gibbs 72
- Dr. Elisha Harris 72
- Dr. C. B. Agnew— Mr. George T. Strong 73
- Dr. J. S. Newberry 74
- Resident or General Secretary .*. 75
- Appointment of Frederick Law Olmsted — Theory of the relations between the Government and the Commission 76
- Confidential nature of those relations 78
- Camp and Hospital Inspection 79
- Financial policy of the Commission 80
- Motives for declining Government support 81
- Modes of raising money 82
- Necessity of educating the public mind in regard to the value of a preventive system 83
- Appeal to Life Insurance Companies 84

CHAPTER IV. INSPECTION OF CAMPS AND HOSPITALS.

- Organization of ^he System of Inspection — ^Inspection of Camps near Washington 85
- Inspection of Camps at the West — ^Action of Commission on the Report of the Inspectors 87
- The Battle of Bull's Run— Inquiry into the causes of the Defeat 88
- Reform in the Discipline of the Army 91
- Lessons taught by the defeat 92
- Condition of the Military Hospitals , 93
- Plans for Hospital buildings prepared by the Commission 94
- Result of the New System 96
- Plans of Inspection, enlarged and systematized 96
- Six permanent Inspectors appointed 97
- Influence of the work of Inspection in the Army 98
- General results of systematic Inspection — Relations with the Head of the Medical Bureau 100
- Various recommendations to secure greater efficiency in the service 102
- Ambulance Regiment 103
- Complaints of a want of co-operation on the part of the Medical Bureau.. 104
- Various departments of the Commission's work organized 105
- The Commission's Report to the Secretary of War 106

CHAPTER V. RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE MEDICAL BUREAU AND APPOINTMENT OF A NEW SURGEON-GENERAL.

- Military Expeditions in the early part of 1862 109
- Preparation and distribution of Medical and Surgical Monographs 110
- Re-organization of the Medical Bureau ' . III
- Motives which led to action in this matter 112
- The full scope of the Commission's work not then understood — Defects in certain Government Bureaus at the commencement of the war 114
- Difficulty in securing Government action ' . 115
- Sketch of the History of the Medical Bureau 116
- Limited scale of its operations before the war 117
- Hospital system before the war 118
- No Inspection of Camps and Hospitals % 119
- Relations with the Quartermaster and Subsistence Departments 120
- Evils resulting from the inadequacy of the Bureau 122
- Objects proposed by the Re-organization 123
- The subject brought before Congress 124
- Obstacles to its due consideration ^ 125
- Passage of the bill. Its provisions ^ 126
- Efforts to secure the appointment of the Surgeon-General 127
- Dr. William A. Hammond 128
- Interview of Dr. Van Buren with the Secretary of War 132
- Appointment of Dr. Hammond as Surgeon-General 133
- Difficulties of his position 134
- Personal controversy between the Secretary of War and the Surgeon- General 186

CHAPTER VI HOSPITAL TRANSPORT SERVICES IN THE WEST AND IN THE PENINSULAR CAMPAIGN. HOSPITAL CARE

- Development of the work at the West — Dr. Newberry 138
- Results of Dr. Newberry's labors in organizing the West 141
- He establishes his Headquarters at Louisville — Organization of Soldiers' Homes 142
- Military operations at the West. Capture of Fort Donelson 143
- Transportation of the wounded in steamers 144
- Organization of Hospital Steamers by the Commission 145
- Belief afforded by the Agents of the Commission — Similar service after the battle of Shiloh 147
- Various difficulties in the Hospital Transport Service 149
- Hospital transports in charge of State Agents ^ 150
- Injurious effect of anti-national methods of relief 151
- Transport service in the Peninsular Campaign..... 153
- The Sanitary transport Daniel Webster 154
- Peculiar difficulties of the service 155
- Relations with Government officers while performing this service 156
- Embarrassments of a volunteer service of this kind 157
- Intervention of the Surgeon-General 159
- Hospital Cars 160
- Objects to be attained by them 161

Plan approved by the Quartermaster-General 162
Description of the Hospital cars 163
Development of the system — Transfer of the cars to the Medical Bureau... 164

CHAPTER VII SUPPLEMENTAL HOSPITAL SUPPLIES.

Popular error in regard to the work of the Sanitary Commission 166
Organization of the Supply Department 167
Supply depots established 168
The sympathy and aid of the women of the country organized 170
Nature and motive of this sympathy „„ 172
Objections to Volunteer and supplemental aid considered..' 174
Necessity of studying the special needs of the soldier 176
Council of women held in Washington 178
Aid of the Associate Members of the Commission invoked 179
Action of the Associate Members in different parts of the country — Boston ; 180
New York— Philadelphia 181
Cincinnati — Chicago 183
General results of the supply organization 184
Canvassing Agents — Sanitary Reporter and Sanitary Bulletin 187
Influence of the Aid Societies in favor of the National cause 188
Powerful effect of this influence in certain localities 191
Other services of Associate Members 194

CHAPTER VIII CONTRIBUTIONS FROM CALIFORNIA AND THE PACIFIC COAST.

Original design of the Sanitary Commission 197
Limited amount of money required at the outset 197
Contributions of supplies 198
More money required to meet its enlarged plans 199
Contribution of one hundred thousand dollars from California 200
State of the Commission's treasury at that time 201
Effect of this contribution 202
General attention attracted by it 202
Spirit of emulation excited by it 205
General sketch of California. 206
Exciting nature of life in that region 209
How the people there were affected by the war 210
Their Patriotism 211
Thomas Starr King 212
California offers troops 213
First efforts to raise contributions for army relief 214
Report of the Secretary of the Citizen's Committee 214
California Branch of the Commission. Visit of Dr. Bellows 231
Organization of Aid Societies 232
System of canvassing on the Pacific coast. Its results 233
Means resorted to to stimulate public interest 234

Sales at auction 234
Sack of sanitary flour 236
Sacramento 238
Nevada - 239
Oregon — Washington Territory 240
Idaho. Colorado, Vancouver, Peru, Costa Rica, Sandwich Islands 241
General conclusions 242

CHAPTER IX DISTRIBUTION OF SUPPLIES—GENERAL AND BATTLEFIELD RELIEF

Different forms of Army Relief 214
Principle on which relief was bestowed — 215
Its design to supplement the government service 245
How it differed from others systems of Army Relief 247
Personal ministrations to the suffering, 249
Machinery for the distribution of supplies 249
Relief Agents — 250
Vast scale upon which relief was afforded 251
Opinion of the Generals concerning the relief Work 253
Field Relief Corps 255
Character and instruction of the Agents 255
System of paid Agents^ 258
Discipline of the Field Relief Corps^ - 259
Battlefield Relief 260
The Battle of Antietam _ 262
Suffering of the wounded for want of supplies 263
Preparations of the Commission for this battle 265
Transportation of Government supplies from New York 267
Success of the Commission's plan to relief 267
William Platt Junior 268
The battle of Perryville 270
Independent transportation for Medical Supplies 271
Auxiliary Relief Corps 272
Peculiar duties of the Corps 273
It enters upon its duties 275
Work at Belle Plain and Fredericksburg 276
Work at Fredericksburg continued 276
Peculiar advantages of this form of Relief 277
Work in the Hospitals at City Point 280
Fidelity and devotion of the members of this Corps 281
William Wilson 281
Charles H. Stanley— Professor Hadley 282
Mrs. General Barlow 284

CHAPTER X. SPECIAL RELIEF SERVICE.

Nature of the Special Relief Work...287
What induced the Commission to undertake it 288

Action of the Commission on this subject in June 1861 .289
"Soldiers' Home*" established at Washington 291
"Soldiers' Homes" at various other points 294
Characteristics of the relief afforded by them 296
Military discipline not violated 296
Feeding Stations for sick and disabled men 298
Their great value in certain emergencies 299
Convalescent camps 301
Special relief in these camps 302
Relief of men returning from rebel prisons 304
This form of Relief at Wilmington and on the Red River 306
Hospital Directory 307
The mode of consulting it, and its value 310
War-Claim Agency 310
Care of the wives and mothers of disabled soldiers 314
Fresh Hospital supplies at Washington 314
Employment of detectives — Couriers 316
General results of Special Relief Service 316

CHAPTER XI WARFARE AGAINST SCURVY— CAMPAIGN OF VICKSBURG

General work in the West during the summer of 1862 320
The Army of the Tennessee and the Cumberland divided 321
Symptoms of Scurvy appear... 322
Measures taken to check its progress 323
Condition of the Army of the Cumberland after the battle of Stone River. 324
The nature of Scurvy 324
Efforts of the officers to procure vegetables 326
Vegetables issued to the officers but not to private Soldiers 326
Application of the Medical Authorities to the Commission for Aid — Shipment of vegetables 327
Farmers of the West called upon for contributions 329
Results of this appeal 329
Hospital Gardens 329
Movements of General Grant's Army of the Tennessee .* 331
Work of the Commission in that Army before Vicksburg 333
Co-operation of General Grant 333
The Army in its march around Vicksburg 334
Report of Dr. Warriner, Sanitary Inspector 336
Vast contributions of supplies after the fall of Vicksburg 337
Character and services of the Commission's Agents at Vicksburg.... 339
Supplies to garrisons on the Mississippi and its branches 340

CHAPTER XII CHATTANOOGA.

The Army of the Cumberland moves southward 342
Materiel of the Army. Difficulties of transportation 343
Embarrassment of the Medical Officers 345

Opening of the campaign 345
 Limited supplies after the Battle of Chickamauga 347
 Aid offered by the Commission 349
 Feeding Stations established ' . 350
 The battle of Chattanooga 351
 Condition of the Army during the winter of 1863-4 352
 Change in the physical condition of the men ' . 352
 Prevalent types of disease ; 355
 Relief of the garrison at Knoxville 356
 Care of troops in garrison in the rear of the Army 356
 Three-fold nature of the relief afforded 357
 Feeding Stations 358
 Hospital Visitors 359
 Distribution of stores in Hospitals 360
 Efforts to prepare Sherman's Army for the campaign in Georgia 361
 Administration of the Hospital Service during the campaign 362
 Work at the Feeding Stations 364
 Appreciation of the Commission's work by the Commanding officers 364

CHAPTER XIII FREDERICKSBURG— GETTYSBURG-.THE WILDERNESS.

Improved condition of the Army after Antietam 367
 First battle of Fredericksburg 368
 Work of the Commission after that battle 369
 Woolen clothing provided for the men in Hospitals 370
 Transportation of the wounded — Feeding Stations 371
 Condition of the Army during the winter of 1862-63 372
 Battle of Chancellorsville 373
 The Army moves northward 374
 Preparations for the battle of Gettysburg : 376
 Battle of Gettysburg — Agents and Supplies with the Army 376
 Agents of the Commission made Prisoners of War 377
 Supplies sent by way of Westminster 378
 Scenes at the Commission's store-house in the town 380
 Special Relief Work— Lodge and Feeding Station 381
 Nature and extent of the work done 382
 Belief to the wounded rebels at Gettysburg 385
 Effect of this relief on the enemy 387
 Great necessity of volunteer relief at Gettysburg 388
 Commission's Agents on that field 389
 The Army returns to the Rapidan 390
 Preparations for the Spring Campaign of 1864 391
 Work after the battles of the Wilderness 392
 Vast accumulation of wounded — Their transportation 392
 The Army base transferred to Port Royal 395

White House— Battles of Cold Harbor 396
The Commission's wagon train 397
City Point — Losses in the campaign 897
Distribution of anti-scorbutics 898
Amount of work done in this campaign — Expenses 899

CHAPTER XIV. MORRIS ISLAND—OLUSTEE—NEW BERNE

Commission's Agents with the expedition against Port Royal 402
Reputed unhealthiness of the climate 408
Movement against Charleston — Two Inspectors appointed 404
Transportation of discharged disabled soldiers 405
Landing on Morris Island 406
Capture of the lower works — ^Assault on Fort Wagner 407
Work of the Commission during these operations 408
Siege operations against Fort Wagner 410
Large supplies of ice furnished the troops by the Commission 412
The siege memorable in a novel aspect 412
Low sickness rate among the troops after the fall of Fort Wagner 418
Expedition to Florida 418
The battle of Olustee 414
Work of the Commission after that Battle 416
General Reflections 416
Agents of the Commission in this Department 417
Work in North Carolina 419
Hospital Garden at Newberne 420
Yellow Fever at Newberne in September, 1864 421
Aid afforded by the Commission 421

CHAPTER XV. DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

General Butler's Expedition 428
Sanitary Precautions taken by him — Results 424
General Banks assumes command of the Army 426
The battle of Franklin 427
Siege of Port Hudson 429
"Soldiers' Home" at New Orleans 429
Improvements in the transportation of disabled men 430
Exchange of Prisoners — Belief afforded 431
Red River Expedition 433
Supplies of vegetables to the Coast Garrisons 434
Character of the Agents 435

CHAPTER XVI. SPECIAL INSPECTION OF HOSPITALS.

Work enlarged in consequence of contributions from California.... 436
Condition of the Hospitals in September 1862 437
Defects in the Hospital System at that time 437
Efforts of the Surgeon-General to remedy these evils 439

A special inspection of Hospitals proposed 440
Corps of Special Inspection organized 441
Their instructions 442
They enter upon their work 443
General results — Hospital buildings 444
Character of the Medical Officers in charge 444
This Inspection supplemental only 446
Various improvements suggested 447
Depots of supplies — Government laboratories 447
New Supply table — Hospital Clothing — Boards of examination 448
Hospital Reports — Army Medical Museum — Hospital buildings 449
The Commission aids and encourages these Improvements 450

CHAPTER XVII THE COMMISSION'S BUREAU OF VITAL STATISTICS.

Value of General laws 451
Early efforts to acquire statistical information 451
The nature and value of statistics 452
Statistics concerning the battle of Bull's Run 453
Statistical Bureau organized 454
Indirect influence of its work in the early part of the war 456
Tabulation of the daily reports of General Hospitals 457
Tabulation of loss and gain returns 458
Ages of the troops and physical characteristics 459
Dr. Gould takes charge of the Bureau 461
Interesting results in regard to the ages of the men - . 462
The American Element shown to preponderate in enlistments 463
Investigation concerning the effect of forced marches 464
Present condition of the material in the Bureau 465
Scientific value of the work 467

CHAPTER XVIII FINANCIAL HISTORY OF THE COMMISSION.

Appointment of a Central Financial Committee « 468
First appeals for money 469
Result of these appeals 470
Second appeal August 13, 1861 471
Circular letter of December 1861 472
Condition of the Treasury in the early part of 1862 472
Appeal in March, 1862— Its failure 473
Hospital transport service ~ 475
How far sustained by the Commission's Treasury 476
Contributions in the summer of 1862 477
Treasury Exhausted by the demands of these campaigns 477
California's contribution — Its value direct and indirect ~. 479
Contributions from December 1862 to July 1863 480

Vast increase of expenses 481
Last appeal issued in December 1863 ^ 481
Thanksgiving collections — Sanitary Fairs ^ 482
Some items of Expenditure at this period 484
State of the Treasury at the dose of the war 486
Lessons taught by its financial history — ^Total receipts 487
Receipts of the Branch Treasuries 488
Facilities afforded by Steamboat Express Telegraph Companies 489
Methods taken to insure exactness and fidelity in the disbursement of funds. 492

CHAPTER XIX INTERNAL ORGANIZATION— RELATIONS WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

The Commission combined various methods to accomplish its object 494
The Board — Its composition and functions 495
Meetings of the Board — Nature of the business transacted. 497
Standing Committee — Its duties 499
Position and duties of the General Secretary 502
Number and character of the subordinate Agents 506
Adaptation of means to the end by the Commission 506
Its policy free from partisan influences 507
Relations with the Government 508
Causes of a want of sympathy 510
The Commission a healthy stimulant to Government 513
Aid afforded by all officers on active service 514
Quartermaster's Department 514
General conclusions 516