

Ninety-Second Illinois Volunteers. Freeport, Ill.: Journal Steam Publishing House and Bookbindery, 1875.

CHAPTER I. What was It All About The Slavery Question The Missouri Compromise of 1820 The Fugitive Slave Law of 1850 The Kansas-Nebraska Bill The Election of President Buchanan, in 1856 The Debate between Douglas and Lincoln, in Illinois, in 1858 The Election of President Lincoln, in 1860 The Deliberate Secession Preparations by the South President Lincoln's Inaugural Address The Progress of the Contest until July 1, 1862 The Call for Three Hundred Thousand Additional Volunteers How It Happened that the Ninety-Second Went to the War 9

CHAPTER II. Recruiting Regimental Organization The First Dress Parade Camp Life at Rockford Regimental Drill in Presence of the Ladies The First March The First Man Wounded Camp at Covington, Ky. Orders to March Company A Buys Mutton for the Hospital Camping in a Snow-Storm Lexington Mt. Sterling The Difficulties on the Negro Question Kentucky Methodists Marching Away from Mt. Sterling Winchester Suits Against the Colonel for Stealing Negroes Lexington Nicholasville Marching After John Morgan A Slave Auction Taking the Oath of Allegiance Off for Louisville Embarking on Steamers' Good-Bye, Loyal Kentucky." 25

CHAPTER III. Down the Ohio Up the Cumberland Fort Donelson Nashville Resolutions March to Franklin Offering Battle to Van Dorn Brentwood Back to Franklin The New Chaplain March to Triune Forrest's Attack on Triune Shelbyville The Colonel's Application to be Detached from the Reserve Corps Wartrace The Regiment Mounted, and Assigned to Wilder's Brigade of Mounted Infantry Camping at Decherd 67

CHAPTER IV. The Campaign Against Chattanooga Over the Cumberland Mountains-Artillery Practice at Harrison's Landing -First Scout on Lookout Mountain Leading the Army of the Cumberland into Chattanooga Catawba Wine Fighting Forrest at Ringgold, Georgia Rebel Spies Pretending to be Deserters Gordon's Mill Marching Down Lookout Mountain in the Storm and Darkness Scouting Along the Chattanooga Before the Battle The Battle of Chicamauga How McCook's Corps Was Surprised and Routed Back to Harrison's Landing A Dying Woman Back Again Over the Cumberland Mountains Caperton's Ferry Off for Huntsville Judge Hammond's Plantation The Cold New Year's Night, 1864 Pulaski, Tenn. Back to Huntsville Skirmish at Bainbridge Ferry Fight at Sweetwater Triauna Scouting Along the Tennessee Detached from "Wilder's Brigade 9

CHAPTER V. From Huntsville to Ringgold Beautiful Camp at Ringgold The Massacre at Nickojack Reconnoissances Under Kilpatrick Nickojack Avenged Lieutenant Colonel Sheets and Major Bonn Complimented in Resolutions General Movement of Sherman's Army Against Jo Johnston Kilpatrick Wounded Resaca Guarding the Railroad Kilpatrick Returns Outpost Duty on the Chattahoochee Dave Boyle's Capture and Escape Band Horses Gobbled Laying pontoons at Sandtown Cutting Railroad at West Point Raiding Around the Rebel Army at Atlanta Night Fighting at Jonesboro Kilpatrick, Surrounded, Cuts His Way Out Swimming the Cotton River Saving the Bridge Across Flint River Brilliant Diversion on the Right of the Army of the Tennessee Glass's Bridge Fall of Atlanta The Summer's Campaign Ended 94

CHAPTER VI. No Rest Off Again After Hood Powder Springs Drawing the Enemy's Fire Picking Out a Farm Van Wert Washing for Gold in the Gold Mines Marietta Getting Ready for the Great March The Start Bear Creek pontoons Described Feinting on Forsyth and Macon Crews's Rebel Brigade Scattered Repulsing the Enemy Near Macon Sherman's Bummers Milledgeville "Blowed Up" Holding the Rear Against Wheeler and Hampton Repulsing the Rebel Cavalry Near Buckhead Creek Resting at Louisville, Georgia Destroying Railroads -The Battle of Waynesboro Capturing a Rebel Major A Negro Boy's Grave Covering the Rear of the 14th A. C. Our Friends Cruelly Left Behind Covering the Rear of the 17th A. C. Fall of Fort McAllister--Midway Church Down to the Ocean's Edge Lockridge's Capture and Escape Fall of Savannah Sherman's Letter to Kilpatrick. 165

CHAPTER VII. Camping and Foraging About Savannah Starting on the March Again Torchlight Battle Into South Carolina Barn well The Rebel Trap at Aiken The Ninety-Second, Completely Surrounded by the Enemy, Gallantly Cuts Its Way Out Exchanging Prisoners with Wheeler-Sending Up Sky-Rockets Running Into the Rebel Camps at Night Averysboro Bentonville News of Lee's Surrender Fighting Near Raleigh Entering Raleigh Chapel Hill Marching Along, Gray-Coat and Blue-Coat, Together Concord Mustered Out Homeward-Bound The Three.Years' Soldiering Ended 307

CHAPTER VIII. Roster of Field and Staff Roster of Each Company of the Regiment- -Roster of Unassigned Recruits 254.

CHAPTER IX. Statement of Charles W. Reynolds, who was Taken Prisoner at Nickojack Statement of Nathan C. Tyler Statement of Don B. Frazer Carrying a Dispatch Chat with a Southern Lady Foraging in South Carolina Venison Steak, and How the Boys Got It Captain Smith's New Boots Serenading a Deaf and Dumb Asylum 306

CHAPTER X. The Reunion at Polo, September 4th, 1867 General Atkins's Address A Reunion Association Organized The Reunion at Freeport, September 4th, 1870 General Sheets's Address The Reunion at Mt. Carroll, September 4th, 1873 Major Woodcock's Address 338